

Our Story

Ever since I, Hope, can remember, all I ate was candy--with some fruits and vegetables added in. I have eaten so much candy in my life I can now name almost any candy out of its wrapper entirely by sight and smell alone.

When I was about 8 years old, I started to dream about owning a candy store. If I saw a store for rent while I was in the car with my mom or dad, I would beg them to rent it and open up a candy store. Then, I would describe to them how I would design it, and predict how happy kids and adults would be coming into my store.

I began thinking about that candy store more seriously when my dad started to get sick, I realized that you need to do things that make you happy and not just work to make a living. When my dad passed away, I knew I needed to open up a candy store and do something that I would enjoy doing.

So, I sat down with my mom to discuss my plans. Mom was excited and said, "If this is what you really want, let's do it." So here we are living out my dream. We rented that store front, and Hope's Land of Candy had a Grand Opening on August 23. All it needs now is a bunch of happy kids and adults to come in.
